China News : “New Professions in 30 Years of the Internet: An Illustrated Handbook \(《互聯網三十年新職業圖鑒》\)” is released: one livestream sales platform links over 30 new professions

As China’s economy advances towards high-quality development, the rapid emergence of new Internet professions has significantly broadened the range of employment opportunities, providing new platforms for personal achievement. To mark this year’s International Labor Day on May 1, the Kuaishou Big Data Research Institute has examined the evolution of the professional ecosystem throughout the 30 years of Internet development in China, leading to the release of “New Professions in 30 Years of the Internet: An Illustrated Handbook (《互聯網三十年新職業圖鑒》)”. This publication highlights the intricate collaboration among various new Internet professions and their collective role in driving socio-economic value.
